School Heads Will Convene This Summer

High School Professors Will Discuss Problems Relative to School

Dr. W. R. Ames, acting dean of the School of Education during the summer session, and Dr. Norman Thorne, assistant superintendent of schools, Portland, Oregon, will direct the Montana Conference on Educational Problems on the campus July 10, 11 and 12, Dr. Ames said today. The convention has been here for several years and brings together teachers and leading educators from all parts of the state.

Purpose of the conference, explained Ames, is for the exchange of viewpoints and discussion of general problems applicable to schools. The conference has been planned to promote as much open discussion and practical questions as possible. If problems arise in which smaller groups wish more intensive study, consultants and rooms will be furnished.

All meetings of the general conference will be in Main hall auditorium.

Begins Wednesday

The program will begin the morning of Wednesday, July 10, with a welcome to visiting professors by President Simmons. The topic, "Integration of Conservation of Resources and the Public School Curriculum" will follow under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Thompson, president of the Northwest Conservation league.

Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to "Training for Citizenship," with Superintendent W. J. Shirley of Hardin, and M. P. Moe, executive secretary of the Montana Conservation League.

Final Exams In Forestry Announced

Final examinations will be given in all forestry subjects next week, according to Professor J. H. Ramskill.

As over 40 per cent of the forestry students have jobs which will call them to early fire protection projects by June 1, the examination schedule has been drawn up to begin next week. All forestry majors are required to have two summers of field work before graduating.

Early exams are scheduled as follows:

Campus Congress Discusses 1940 Federal Census

"Importance of the 1940 Federal Census" was the subject of the Campus Congress program broadcast last night.

Doris Mooney, Conrad, first speaker on the program, discussed the information sought. The first census in 1790 was to determine the representation each state was to have in Congress.

Most vital feature of the present census, in Miss Mooney's opinion, is the housing census designed to determine the living conditions of America's millions. "everything from bath tubs to kitchen ranges is being enumerated."

The host of problems confronting the census taker was the theme of Manzer Griswold's talk on "How the Census Is Taken." Even the Romans had a census, said Griswold, although in the days of Caesar the people had to come to the census taker or, as he put it, the army came after them.

The 1940 census will reveal facts important to industry and the general public alike, said Beverly Slingstad, Havre, who spoke on "The Importance of the 1940 Census." Final compilation of figures will reveal that America's wealth is becoming more concentrated in the hands of a few persons, that a large portion of our population is lacking in adequate housing, and that some methods of more adequate distribution of income will have to be worked out, she said.

Writer's Cramp Strikes Shysters

A dog bites a man and the man in self defense kicks the dog over the fence and through a window, breaks the window and a fifty dollar vase. The glass cuts the owner of the house and the dog falls on his kid and knocks him unconscious and the parent flies into a rage, throws the dog back out the window and he lands on the chief of police who arrests the man who threw the dog and takes him to jail. Meanwhile the kid, whom the dog fell on after the man who was bit had kicked him in self defense, died because the parent, whom the chief had arrested because he threw the dog on him, wasn't there to attend to him. Who is responsible and who can collect damages and who winds up in jail?

Lawyers Not Interested

Somehow the future lawyers of the state no longer seem vitally interested. A week ago they would have taken the case to trial in a smoking room court session. Today the case won't even draw a comment.

Senior lawyers are taking exams—seven courses, four hours to an exam, 28 hours of tests—the total is ghastly. They are faced with a week of it—a week of writing. They can't even experience the illegitimate thrill of cheating. They have been on the honor system since 1914.

But the honor system also keeps them from going stir-crazy. If they feel themselves growing faint, if the wheels in their head suddenly strip a cog and begin whirling, or if their hand becomes palsied, paralyzed or even petrified they can knock off for a minute or ten and smoke a fag while tightening up their main bearings.

President

PROF. A. S. MERRILL

Dr. A. S. Merrill, head of the American Association of University Professors, announced the postponement of the annual convention until next fall.

AAUP Meeting Is Postponed

The meeting of the American Association of University Professors, scheduled for today, has been postponed until next October because the committee reports by Dean C. W. Leaphart and Dr. E. M. Little will not be completed until then, said Dr. A. S. Merrill, president.

The nomination committee, Dr. W. P. Clark, Dr. E. L. Marvin and Dean R. C. Line, will mail ballots for the election of next year's president and secretary. Added to the ballot will be a questionnaire concerning the joining of the Consumers' Union. Letters have already been mailed on this subject. The questionnaire should be returned to Dr. Lucia B. Mirrieles with the ballot.

Lambda Delta Lunchroom Is Improved

"We have improved the Alpha Lambda Delta lunchroom this year and next year we plan to make further improvements," said T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, yesterday morning.

"We shall continue to improve it as long as its utility increases," he continued. "So far it has been a very handy, cheerful place for those women who use it."

The lunchroom, which Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, started last year, is located in the NYA building. University women may eat their lunches there.

It is an apartment with a kitchen and living room. The kitchen is equipped with two tables, eight chairs, a sink, three hot plates, a cabinet containing dishes, silverware and cooking utensils, and a newly installed group of lockers. The living room has a fireplace, davenport, stuffed chair, couch and two rockers. Colorful drapes with ALD insignia on them brighten the rooms.

Actives of ALD who are attending summer school this year will make other improvements in the room, according to President Gerry Pechar, Klein. The davenport and stuffed chair will be recovered, pillows will be revamped, and the tables, chairs and woodwork will be repainted.

Coleman Conducts Children's Clinic

Dr. James Coleman, Butte, is conducting a clinic for crippled children of Ravalli, Mineral and Missoula counties in the South hall infirmary today.

The clinic is sponsored by the Crippled Children's bureau of the State Board of Health.

Appointments have been made all this week. No one is examined without an appointment, as Dr. Coleman's time is limited.

Several university students have made appointments, including footballers Eso Naranche and Jack Swarthout, who are having old football injuries checked.

Dean Returns From Meeting

Dean C. E. F. Mollett of the School of Pharmacy returned yesterday from the American Pharmaceutical association meeting in Richmond, Virginia, and the United States Decennial Pharmacopoeia convention in Washington.

En route Mollett visited the Abbott Research laboratories, Chicago; Eli Lilly & Company, Indianapolis, Indiana; Purdue university; Maymount park and museum, Williamsburg, Virginia, home of the Stars and Stripes, and the National Institute of Pharmacy laboratories, American headquarters of pharmacy, Washington, D. C.

Many friends and alumni were met on the trip. Among them are F. J. Zuck, Rockford, Illinois, a former professor of pharmacy in 1920-21; Hubert Murphy, '39, who is working for his Ph.D. degree in Purdue university; Miss Anne Picchioni, '39, who is completing her MA at the Western Reserve university, Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. T. D. Rowe, '33, and Hazel Landee, '32, who represented the Montana pharmacy alumni at the USP convention.

Pledges Retaliate; Actives Hoaxed

Tri Delt pledges evened the score with their actives Tuesday night by working a hoax that had previously been perpetrated by the actives in a same manner.

After receiving an invitation from the Theta Chi house to a desert dance that evening, the actives dressed and prepared themselves for a wonderful evening. When the appointed hour arrived, the escorts arrived. The only thing wrong was the fact that the "escorts" turned out to be Tri Delt pledges who had borrowed Theta Chi names. The tricksters announced that the treat was on them—an ice cream cone for each active.

The befuddled actives, irked to the extreme depths, recalled the time earlier this quarter when they required these same pledges to spend weeks in preparation for "rushees" from Missoula high school. All plans, including preparation of the menu, were left to pledges. Despite long hours of tedious labor, drudgery of waxing floors and polishing silverware, the pledges remained enthusiastic. The only work not assigned pledges had been "mailing invitations."

The night of pledging events, actives left pledges in charge of honors and went to the movies. When the "guests" arrived at the Tri Delt house, actives under assumed names were to be "rushed."

Shall We Go Dutch?

To go "dutch" or not to go "dutch," that is the question—of the American college youth this spring. While it has been a controversial subject for a very long time, it is no longer considered a question of ethics or of right or wrong. It is now merely a question of what the parties concerned wish to do.

Students, in favor of it, argue that it is a sensible one on the grounds that it doubles the fun at half the cost—not unlike a pal night. Also it increases the number of dates. Most students are dependent on parents for their source of income, and so the boys argue why can't the girls stand some of the expense as well as the boys? It is no longer considered presumptuous for the girl to insist on "sharing the wealth" or for the boy to arrange dates on that basis.

Only a few times a year does the co-ed at Montana spend money on her dates. Occasionally we hear of dutch dates, but they are definitely in the minority. Yet, on other campuses students seem to be going out, more and more, on a dutch basis. In fact, this being leap year, convention and respectability beam approvingly on the enterprising female who arranges dates, pays her way, and goes out to "get her man."

Batchelors Eat Their Own Cooking and Live to Tell!

There are two types of batching students—the kind that buys a set of dishes so they can wash them only once a week; the other has only enough to go around and washes them between courses.

One Sunday afternoon the boys had company and cooked a handful of rice for each guest. Every kettle in the house was drawn into service. That was not the week that the soup or gravy suffered from malnutrition.

The Way They Like It

But that's the way they like it. It's fun to be their own bosses and eat what and when they want. Batching students soon learn to bounce back like a cork from both indigestion and low spirits.

The Batchelor's Buying club, brainstorm and project of the Social Work laboratory, is the batching students' medium for comparing notes. It is also a general education in accounting, budgeting, managing, officiating, public relations and social activities.

Budgeting was the rage after November. Batchers boiled carrots for potatoes, creamed carrots for vegetables, ground carrots for meat and fried carrots for dessert.

To economize, the group considered buying a whole beef carcass. After talking it over, they decided half a beef might suffice. "But, they don't come that way," was the objection.

Two Mistakes

The efficient managers slipped twice. Once they invested in a hundred pounds of parsnips and put them in the new garbage hamper to keep dry. The garbage man did not understand the situation and later the managers had to do some reclaiming.

Another time they bought a case of eggs and brought them to town in the rear end of the trailer. Every time they hit a bump, another egg disintegrated.

That's the way they like it.

Senior Dinner Limit Placed At 525 Plates

Placing a limit of 525 upon attendance at the Commencement dinner Saturday, June 1, at 6:15 o'clock in the Student Union Gold room, Professor Monica B. Swearingen, director of residence halls, has announced that the deadline for reservations will be at noon, Wednesday, May 29.

The limit has been set to facilitate accommodations. When Mrs. Swearingen first supervised the commencement dinner 16 years ago, only 100 attended. Even as late as 1929 only 130 were present; at that time it was known as the Senior-Alumni-Faculty dinner.

Formerly In Halls

Formerly the dinner took place in the residence halls' dining rooms and later in the women's gymnasium. Since the erection of the Student Union building in 1935 the banquet has been in the Gold room. All food, however, is prepared in the kitchens at North, South and Corbin halls. In addition to preparing the food for the banquet, the 12 cooks must prepare the regular residence halls' dinner.

Last year's banquetters consumed 240 pounds of ham, 62 cans of sweet potatoes, 20 gallons of string beans, 96 heads of lettuce, 25 pounds of butter, 45 dozen rolls, pounds of butter, 45 dozen rolls, 15 pounds of coffee, 270 cantaloupes and 15 gallons of ice cream. All this had to be served by the regular student waiters and waitresses plus some extra aid.

Dishes Must Be Transferred

All dishes except those stored in the Student Union building must be transferred to and from the residence halls and Student Union banquet tables are used in addition to those Lawrence Toner of the physical plant succeeds in collecting from lecture rooms.

Mrs. Swearingen emphasized the fact that arrangements for an ordinary banquet are much less complicated. For commencement dinner place cards must be arranged so that students of one major, their parents and faculty members who teach in that major field can sit together. Mrs. H. E. Ephron, instructor in Latin and humanities, takes care of seating accommodations.

Last Year

Last year occupants of the tables ranged from seven to 69. Place-card arrangement is handled by Miss Anne Platt, professor of home economics. Mrs. Christiansen letters the cards.

Until all reservations are in, no plan of seating can be made, so the deadline is set for Wednesday noon, May 29. Anyone entering

Weekly Music Recital Features Vocalists

Earl Dahlstrom, Missoula, will sing "Eri Tu Cha Macchiavi," from Verdi's opera, "Un Bello en Mascher," this afternoon at the regular Friday student recital presented by the Music school in Main hall auditorium.

Other vocal numbers include Dorothy Borcharding, Moore, singing the lilted "A Heart That's Free," by Robyn, and Schumann's "Ich Gralle Nicht," sung by Brinton Jackson.

Selections to be played on the piano are Haydn's "Sonata in C sharp Minor," by Mae Bruce, Glasgow; "Concerto in C Minor," Mozart, by Judith Hurley, Lewistown, and Chopin's "Minuet Waltz" and "Waltz in C sharp Minor," by Sarah Jane Barclay, Helena.

Jury Exams Begin Today

Jury examinations for music majors will be given today and tomorrow, Acting Dean John Crowder said today. These exams were given for the first time last February.

The entire faculty of the Music school acts as the jury for these applied music exams. The jury decides not only the student's grade, but also in which classification he belongs.

"These jury exams are in keeping with the recommendation of the National Association of Schools of Music," Crowder said, "and in view of the satisfactory results obtained in February, the faculty is continuing them."

his name after that must sit at an "overflow" table.

Assisting Mrs. Swearingen are Professor Lucia B. Mirrieles, chairman of the dinner committee, Mrs. Ephron, Professor Anne Platt, Miss Jane Potter and Mrs. Christiansen.

SPORTALES...

By BOB PRICE

The Missoula Evergreens open their 1940 state league baseball schedule Sunday, loaded with power at the bat and with a handful of elbowers who are itching to see if they have enough stuff to carry them through the stiff schedule which faces them during the next two months. Most of the men playing on this year's Evergreen squad comprised the Student Store team of 1937, which won the state league championship, and who were state semi-pro champs in 1939. Playing Manager Paul Szakash, 240-pound backstop or infielder, has six potent pitchers for slab duty. Charley Miller, Anaconda fireballer; Dick Mariana, Miles City midget, and Lou Olson have had plenty of mound experience against Montana nines. Cub Potter has pitched from time to time since leaving the Junior league ranks, and Dick Hollister and Chuck Butterbrodt are unknown quantities so far.

Acquisition of Doug Campbell makes the Evergreen infield stronger than last year's outfit. Campbell, a smooth-working, heavy-hitting second sacker, will be leadoff man this year, the first Evergreen to take a cut at the ball in league play this year.

First base is solid, with both Potter and Lefty Bond able to handle the initial bag zone. Dick Rigg, an old hand, will be at shortstop, an experienced head in the infield. Third base is still a problem, with Bud Gillette fielding well but still a little weak with the willow. However, most of the Evergreens can play more than one position, and Socko can juggle the lineup to patch the hot-spot, probably playing there himself and shifting big Al Forte from the outfield to catch.

Hank Blastic, who played here with a Missoula team in 1932; Bill Ahders, heavy-slugging veteran, and Ray Olson, ex-Gonzaga gridder, round out a good garden crew, with Fred Jenkins due to be in the lineup later.

On paper this club looks as powerful as the 1939 Yank team, with everybody from leadoff to number nine hitter able to clout.

Probable starting lineups against East Helena Sunday at Campbell park:

East Helena—Smith, 2b; H. Kovich, ss; E. Kovich, 3b; Langenfuss, cf; S. Srenar, rf; Jeray, c; J. Srenar, p; J. Krisman, 1b; Tursich, lf.

Missoula Evergreens—Campbell, 2b; R. Olson, cf; Potter, 1b; Szakash, c; Forte, rf; Rigg, ss; Blastic-Ahders, lf; Gillette, 3b; Mariana, p.

SN Defeats PSK 7-6; Wins Title

Sigma Nu defeated Phi Sigma Kappa 7 to 6 yesterday to take the softball championship in one of the most exciting campus games witnessed this year. The champions eked out a run in the last inning of an eight-inning game.

Phi Sigma Kappa put three runs across in the first of the seventh to tie the score at 6-all, and then clamped down to shut out Sigma Nu in the last of that frame. In the first of the extra inning, however, the victors put down three straight batters and then won the game and a championship with two hits and a run in their turn at bat.

"Peck, Peck, Pecking All Day Long," Sing Clerks

"Peck, peck, pecking all day long,"

And it's not the woodpecker song. It's the hum of the Clerical Service Division pounding out tests, outlines, schedules and letters. Here, just across the hall from the health service, instructors bring their work to be mimeographed and to get their office supplies.

With fifteen typewriters, two mimeograph machines, and other necessary office equipment, the Clerical Service handles the bulk of the stenographic work of the instructors. During winter quarter, 483 stencils for 180 final examinations were used. Typewriters are now wide open, trying to hold the flood of finals in check.

When questioned about the longest test on record, Mrs. Kathleen Schroeder, director, smiled and said, "It might create a bad psychological effect."

If the work brought in is to be mimeographed and is readable, it is given to one of the clerks, who cuts a stencil of it on a "demoted" typewriter—one stripped of its ribbon. Then it is slapped on a glass plate, illuminated by electricity, and read off or "proofed." It is then sent to the mimeograph machine, where Miles Bush, Medicine Lake, puts it in the rotating cylinder of one of the machines and runs off the desired number of copies. The copies are wrapped up, the stencil removed, cleaned, and filed away. Bush has charge of the machines, keeps them cleaned and oiled, and in running order.

If you want to dictate a letter, Virginia McDonald, the assistant director, will listen. Mrs. Schroeder and Miss McDonald handle all examinations. Student workers never work on these.

Material from two-line notices to 400-page books going to publishers find their way to Roger Peterson's desk. Peterson, Great Falls, has charge of a wide carriage, stencil-cutting machine.

At times during the quarter the Clerical Service is a quiet, orderly business office, but when frantic instructors hurry in with late exams and clerks from the upstairs offices scurry in to "borrow" a machine, it is about as quiet as a Grizzly pep rally.

Warners May Film Streit's "Union Now"

Clarence Streit's "Union Now" will be made into a motion picture if negotiations between Warner Brothers studio and Streit and Thomas Mann, his co-worker, in adapting the book for the screen are successful, according to the New York Times.

William Dieterle, veteran movie director, has recommended that the studio purchase the film. Dieterle plans to direct the picture.

The film, says the Times, will be based directly on Streit's book and will expound his ideas of world union.
